«Philadelphia» The writer would prefer to contribute an article to the Liberty Bell on some other subject than fugitive slaves. It might create the impression that he was a man of only one idea. Says that few people "can understand an abstract idea ... To make our anti-slavery idea fully understood, you must put legs on it." Dwells on the new importance that the Vigilance Committee has acquired. Refers to "the change you have made in the Standard."

«Philadelphia» The writer is surprised that the Executive Committee in New York has not yet issued the call to the meeting in Philadelphia, for which a house has been procured. Thinks that the call should not come from Philadelphia, but from the committee of the National Society. Elizabeth Neall is mistaken in saying that there would "certainly be a mob." "Our minds however were made up from the first to hold the meeting mob or no mob." The writer does not agree with the addressee that "'mob violence' would do good." In Philadelphia they have been mob-ridden ever since the burning of Pennsylvania Hall, on which occasio[illegible]he moborats had a fair triumph." Asks how long the Ame[illegible] A.S. Society is to continue under the present regime. Objects to control by the Hopper family. Writes about the price of copies of a mezzotint of Lucretia Mott.

.Philadelphia. Concerned mainly with the price of the engraving (of Lucretia Mott) which the writer had quoted too high in a previous letter. Will take half the amount in Liberty Bells for 1844. Hopes the "Boston folks" will heed what George Bradburn has said about Liberty party in the West. "We must discriminate between the Mass. N.ew. Organization & Liberty Party in general."

«Philadelphia» Writer denies the statement in one of the addressee's letters that he felt that his "brother's services had not been appreciated." Wants to know if anything can be done to produce a more efficient "national committee" (Executive Committee of the American Anti-Slavery Society?) Thinks an amicable solution should be possible. Objects to D. L. Child's Whig bias, which he thinks should not be so apparent in the National Anti-Slavery Standard. Disapproves of the Garrisonian opposition to the Liberty Party. Will send the Lucretia Mott engraver's plate whenever the addressee wants it.

«Philadelphia» Has sent the package of portraits and quotes the price of printing, etc. Would like to hear the addressee's opinion on "our change of position toward the 3d party". The resolution adopted on 3d party "gives, in this part of the country, unmixed & universal satisfaction," except perhaps in the case of E.M.(Edward Morris)Davis. Had the writer heard the discussions at the recent meeting, she "would have been disposed to relax much if not all" of her opposition to the American Society.

«Philadelphia» Now that the elections are over, the writer suggests that the Nat. Anti-Slavery Standard "be filled with an entirely new style of reading matter." The subjects of Birney, the Emancipator, and all politics should be thrown to the dogs and something "more generally interesting" be put in their place. If E. Quincy keeps up his onslaught on the New Organizationists, all will have to protest. "It will be wrong both in principle & policy." Subscribers are falling off rapidly in Pennsylvania. The writer gives statistics. Wants to see more from the addressee's pen. Quincy's articles are able, but too long

To Miss Weston

«New York?» The writer has just returned from Chicago and Detroit. He was "off on an errand of duty." Staying at home and calling on the Westons would have been much more agreeable. The writer encloses the last number of the Freedman, which contains a letter from him giving "a glimpse of my experience on a recent visit among the old anti-slavery folks of Phil^{a}."

«Philadelphia» Mr. (John A.?) Bingham proposed that the writer should be "one of the commission," but he refused, insisting that the committee should be "above suspicion of partizanship." Mr. Stanton's choice was for "his friend Bishop «Matthew» Simpson (a good man), Horace Binney aetat 88 and Prof. «Louis» Agassiz!... I was sure that Mr.Binney would not accept & feared that Agassiz would..." Mr.Sumner chose Dr. (Samuel Gridley) Howe, and thought that Frank Sanborn would be right for secretary. The writer fixed on Mr.(Richard Albert?) Tilghman. All declined, and Mr.Sumner wrote that "with the declination of Mr.Tilghman the [illegible]ng had broken down." Mr.(George Luther) Stearns and Mr.(Fra[illegible] W.) Bird came through Philadelphia full of the "bureau" idea, but the writer has heard nothing further from them or from Mr.Sumner.

«Philadelphia» The writer received the addressee's letter introducing Mr. Stephen of Cambridge, England. The writer entertained Mr. Stephen at tea and names those present. Mr. & Mrs. James Mott were prevented from coming by the death of their eldest grandson, Henry Cavender. Mrs. Mott is not well. The writer's daughters sang and played for the guests and his son Charles accompanied them on the bones, "a sort of castanets that ... are a great improvement on the old Moorish idea." The writer regrets that the addressee's eyes are no better, and he will wait till it is convenient for her to write if she disapproves of his letter "[illegible]rning Mr. P." The writer, on reflection, cannot see that [illegible]as anything to retract. Refers to his proposition that a certain book be published.

«Philadelphia» "Mr. Phillips amazes me with his recklessness of assertion." Comments on the Cleveland Convention, which has for its object the defeat of Lincoln and the election of J. C. Fremont. Mentions P. Pillsbury, S. S. Foster and James Redpath with sarcastic allusions to French revolutionists. If the «American» Anti-Slavery Society "continues in active existence, it will be a political club, not a great moral association. Mr. Phillips settled its character when he insisted upon a vote on his ultr-anti-Lincoln resolution." The writer wishes to know Mrs. M. W. Chapman's stand on the "Fremont question."

Now that its establishment is an accomplished fact my connection with it ceases." The writer is secretary of the American Freedmen's Aid Union. The function of the Freedmen's Aid movement is "the enlightenment of the newly liberated blacks (by schools & the like), & of the unliberated & half-liberated whites - north & south - as to their duties to the blacks." To Mackinlay.

[No. 40, Rue de Ville.] Has given to Mrs. Bayly Mr. Mackinlay's letter in which he alluded to promises made by Mrs. Bayly, and will leave it to her to speak to him on the subject. For himself, he requests the return to her of the songs. He will himself make use of two, which he names, presuming it will not encroach upon Mackinlay's rights. A.L. 3p. 9 1/4 x 7 1/4 in.

Bayly, Thomas Haynes, 1797-1839; English poet and miscellaneous writer.

To J. (?) Mackinlay, of Messers Goulding and Co., Soho Sq.

[Wyndham Place.] Has received word from Lord Nugent that he has not been selling any copies of the Tale for less than twenty-five pounds, but as Bayly is interested on account of the Bijou, he will send it to him for fifteen pounds. Advises Mackinlay to accept it for that and to mail him a draft. A.L.S 3p. 9 x 7 1/4 in.

Proposes to give the company two or three songs, provided they send the trinket and do not let Mrs. Bayly know that it is not a gift outright. Describes the style of trinket he wishes and the words to be engraved upon it. A.L.S. 4p. 9 x 7 1/2 in.

Bayly, Thomas Haynes, 1797-1839; English poet.

To Mackinlay.

[Written from Bath?] Does not intend that Goulding and Co. shall be asked to pay twice for poems already paid for, but referred in his letter to poems intended for publication with music. Cites Moore's dealings with Powers as being a like circumstance. Is unwilling to relinquish his rights if that means that his songs will be printed in magazines, the Blackwood alone being of a standard high enough to meet his requirements. Alludes to the gift of a bracelet to Mrs. Bayly for which he intends to pay with a song. Will talk of the matter of author's rights with his friends, Rogers, Hook and Luttrell. [London ?] Had quite forgotten the words of the Chateau songs. Believes they represent his best work. Writes out the dedication for him "To Mrs. Edward Lytton Bulwer, the songs of the old chateau are inscribed by Thomas Haynes Bayly." Has lost all of the Winsor Lays and so desires him to send them to him. Told his wife that Mackinlay laughed at her gift and said that it came from Mr. Colman. Mr. Alexander Lee has written them that he has two of the songs, so infers that Mackinlay will soon send him a check. A.L.S. 4p. and 1. 7 1/4 x 4 3/4 in. and 9 1/2 x 7 in.

«Salem, Ohio» Refers to a request, transmitted by Mr. (Parker) Pillsbury, in behalf of a fair to be held in Salem, Ohio, for contributions from the Boston Bazaar. The addressee had held out the prospect of such help, "supposing that the object of the Fair was to assist the State Society, auxilery «sic» to the American A.S. Society." The goods never arrived, but now they have learned that a box of Boston goods was sent to the Society in Cincinnati, "which has no connection whatever with old organised antislavery." The writer thinks that there was probably a mistake, and that the goods were intended for Salem instead of Cincinnati.

"In Britain the total abstinence reform will place its adherents in the position with regard to the Sectarian Churches, in which Antislavery has placed you in respect to the American Church." To William Lloyd Garrison No.7

[Solebury, Bucks Co., Penn.] The Buckingham Female Anti-Slavery Society sends two resolutions adopted by the members. One relates to the doctrine of Non-Resistance. Abolitionists in his neighborhood had always followed the Declaration of Sentiments with its peaceful emancipation pledge until the murder of E. P. Lovejoy in Alton, "and the consequent justification by many in high places of the un-Christian defence made there ..." Says that the doctrine of Non-Resistance was explained away by the American Anti-Slavery Society. There are Abolitionists who would resent having the funds of the American Anti-Slavery Society "appropriated to the erection of bulwarks of carnal defen[illegible]..." The Buckingham Society will depend on the Liberat[illegible] its information.
